WALT – write a story

STARTER - ONOMATOPOEIA

A words describing how something sounds.

Can you think of some onomatopoeia words for the pictures on the next slide?

CHALLENGE

- CAN YOU USE ONOMATOPOEIA IN YOUR STORY TODAY????

Read back through your story.
Look at your plan – what happens next?

The hen nestled happily under Jack's arm but the harp was alarmed to be grabbed by a stranger. As Jack headed towards the door, the harp cried, "Help, master!"

Jack steals the hen and the harp but the harp calls out to the giant.

Susie and her brother steal the jar and the till but the sweets fall all over the floor making a loud noise!

I need to make this more exciting by adding in more detail!

Susie and her brother steal the jar and the till but the sweets fall all over the floor making a loud noise!

"If we steal that jar we will never run out of sweets!" Susie explained. "and if we steal the till then we will never run out of money!" Tom added. The dinosaur was in the back room. This was their chance! They crept slowly up to the counter. TIP TOE TIP TOE. They carefully grabbed the till without making a sound! Then Tom slowly lifted the jar. He began to turn around and run out of the door when suddenly the jar tipped slightly, hundreds of jelly beans started rushing down to the ground CRASHHHH.
"What is that noise?" The dinosaur came rushing out of the back room and saw Susie and Tom running out of the door. The bell rang again DING. He chased after them. "come back here!" he bellowed. Susie and Tom panicked and ran as fast as they could across the marshmallow clouds. They made it to the top of the beanstalk but realised they couldn't climb back down holding on to the till and the jar of sweets! They would fall. Susie looked down and felt terrified of falling but then she looked up and saw the angry dinosaur running after them. She didn't know what to do!

Can you finish your story?

Jack's mum chops the beanstalk down with an axe. The giant falls and is never seen again.

The dinosaur catches up to Susie and her brother. He is very upset and they say sorry. He is thankful that they say sorry and give them a lollipop each.
