Creating Spring Shape Poems

twinkl

Learning Objective

To understand the features of shape poetry.

Success Criteria

- I know that a shape poem describes an object, person or animal and the words of the poem form the shape of the object, person or animal being described.
- I understand that shape poetry doesn't have to rhyme.
- I can try to include alliteration and similes in my poem.
- I can create my own spring themed shape poem.

Shape Poems

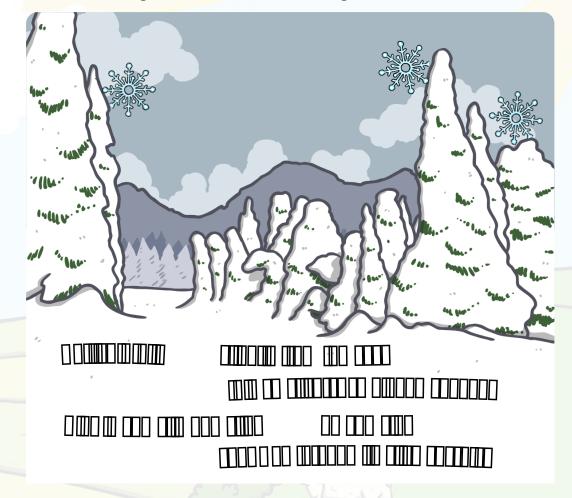

Can you and a partner guess what these poems are describing?

They glide across the golden grass gathering goblins and gathering grasshoppers. They giggle as they glide above the ground.

Hint: You can use the words and the shape of the words to help you.

huge rock that rumbles and roars, wrecking the ground all around it. It shoots sizzling, steaming, scorching lava like a monster spitting out hot liquid into the air. Like a smoking dragon, it finally starts to calm down. The chaos stops and it goes back to being a deadly and dangerous rock.

What is a Shape Poem?

- A shape poem is a poem that describes an object, person or animal.
- The special thing about a shape poem is that the words of the poem form the shape of the object, person or animal being described.
- Shape poems don't have to rhyme!
- Shape poems can use full stops and capital letters like sentences.
- Shape poems often use alliteration or similes.

The Features of a Shape Poem

What did you notice about the shape poems we looked at?

Each line can be a different length or be curved to form the shape of the object that is being described.

Full stops and capital letters are used just like you would use in sentences. The chaos stops and it goes back to being a deadly and dangerous rock.

Alliteration can be used – this is lots of words in a row beginning with the same letter.

The lines don't have to rhyme. Similes can be used – this is where we use the words 'like' or 'as' to compare two things to each other.

Can you label the features of a shape poem in your books?

Let's Try it!

First, let's choose something to describe with a spring theme. Let's choose... Easter eggs!

Next, we need to brainstorm all the adjectives or phrases we can think of to describe Easter eggs...

Let's Try it!

Here are some lines written using the adjectives and phrases that we brainstormed. Oh no, they're all mixed up! Can you put them into the right order to make the shape of the Easter egg? Use the length of the lines and the punctuation to help you.

It's Your Turn to Brainstorm

Let's make a shape poem describing spring objects or animals! As a group, choose 2 or 3 of these spring objects or animals and brainstorm some words or phrases to describe them.

Planning your poem! I want you to make 2 spider diagrams for this session...

Things to do with Spring

Choose one of your objects/animals and come up with lots of adjectives or similes for it

It's Your Turn to Write a Shape Poem

Now, choose one object or animal. Using the ideas you brainstormed as a group and an outline of the object or animal you have chosen, create your shape poem.

- Remember to stay inside the lines of the picture, starting a new line when you get close to the edge.
- Don't forget to use full stops and capital letters.
- Try to use alliteration or similes if you can.
- This will make your shape poem more exciting and descriptive.

Plenary

Decorate your poems! E.g colour over your writing with a colouring pencil and then go over your writing with a pen.

I would love to see and read some of your poems. Send them to me in an email and I can make a video reading them out loud ©
